

Everyone is different

Some people have brown hair. Some people have blond hair. Some people have short hair. Some people have long hair. Everyone has different hair. It is okay to be different.

Some people are tall. Some people are short. Everyone is a different height. It is okay to be different.

Some people like riding horses. Some people like playing soccer. Some people like swimming. Everyone likes doing different activities. It is okay to be different.

Some people like maths. Some people like science. Everyone likes different areas of school. It is okay to be different.

Some people are good at reading. Some people are good at writing. Everyone is good at different things. It is okay to be different.

Some people need help with reading. Some people need help with writing. Everyone needs a little help in different things. This is because everyone learns differently.

At school, students may do different work. It is okay because everyone learns differently.

Everyone is different and that is okay.
